As the air turns crisp and the holidays draw near, November brings a season of gratitude and civic spirit to Ashton. Along with giving thanks for our hardworking businesses, neighbors, and volunteers, this month also gives us a chance to shape our community's future with the UPCOMING BOND ELECTION ON NOV. 4. Every vote and every voice matters as we work together to keep Ashton growing strong. So bundle up, take part, and join us in celebrating all that makes our town such a wonderful place to call home.

A Friend You Can Talk To

Division of Glacier Bank

📍 600 Main Street, Ashton 🌐 ccb-idaho.com

There's something special about banking in a small town, where people know your name and a handshake still means something. That's what you'll find at Citizens Community Bank in Ashton. Formerly known as Bank of Idaho, the same friendly team continues to serve our community with the hometown care and personal service folks have come to rely on.

Citizens Community Bank takes pride in being more than just a place to deposit your paycheck or get a loan — it's a place built on relationships. The Ashton branch team lives and works right here in the Upper Valley, so when they help you with your mortgage, farm loan, or business account, they're also cheering you on at the game, buying from your stand at the farmers market, and volunteering at local events.

Now part of the Glacier Bank family, Citizens Community Bank brings the best of both worlds — the security and resources of a strong regional bank, and the heart of a true community bank. Their commitment to supporting local businesses, families, and organizations remains stronger than ever.

From sponsoring youth sports and community events to helping local entrepreneurs chase their dreams, Citizens Community Bank is proud to invest in the people and progress that make Ashton such a great place to call home. When you stop by, you're not just another customer — you're a neighbor, and that's what makes all the difference.
